Historic Royal Palaces

Company description:	Historic Royal Palaces is a team of people who love and look after six of the greatest palaces in the World; the Tower of London, Hampton Court Palace, Banqueting House at Whitehall, Kensington Palace, Kew Palace and Hillsborough Castle and Gardens. We create space for spirits to stir and be stirred. At the Tower the ancient stones reverberate with dark secrets, priceless jewels glint in fortified vaults and pampered ravens strut the grounds. The Tower of London is one of the world's most famous fortresses and has seen service as royal palace, prison, armoury and even zoo! It is still home to the Crown Jewels and of course the Beefeaters. The flamboyant Henry VIII is most associated with Hampton Court Palace. Its many royal occupants have ensured the palace has fabulous furnishings, tapestries and paintings. It is set in 60 acres of formal gardens, which include the famous maze and the Great Vine. The Palladian-style Banqueting House at Whitehall was created for exuberant court entertainments but is probably most famous for a one real life drama: the execution of Charles 1 which took place here in 1649. It has a magnificent ceiling painted by Peter Paul Rubens in 1630-4. Generations of royal women have shaped the stylish Kensington Palace and elegant gardens from Queen Mary to Victoria and, more recently Diana, Princess of Wales. Our exhibitions programme will bring Untold Lives; A palace at work to our visitors from March 2024, telling the lesser-known stories of the people who worked at the palaces serving the monarchs you know well. The most intimate of the five royal palaces, Kew was built as a private house but became a royal residence between 1728 and 1818. Both the palace and the nearby Queen Charlotte's cottage, built in 1770, are most closely associated with King George III and his family. Hillsborough Castle and Gardens is the only royal residence in Northern Ireland. Tours of the state rooms in the Castle take visitors through a kaleidoscope of history and characters. The 100 acres of gardens are an ideal space to explore and enjoy the Irish countryside. We offer group rates for parties of 15 people or more, we have trade partnerships for agencies with volume visits and also offer a range of private tours and experiences and spaces for galas and receptions for the incentive and luxury travel market.
