

Leisure Events Domestic Sentiment Tracker Published: February 2026

Introduction

- In October 2025, 5 questions on Leisure Events were added to the Domestic Sentiment Tracker survey for one wave only, in addition to the usual questions.
- The questions asked:
  - Which of the following types of leisure events have you travelled to attend over the past 12 months?
  - Where was the event? (Distance from home)
  - In which region of the UK was this event?
  - Did you stay overnight for this event, or return the same day?
  - Which of the following did you do in the area while travelling for the event?
- The fieldwork for this wave was conducted between 1st – 7th October 2025
- The following results are from a nationally representative UK sample, of n=1,755 adults.
- The results (both, reports and data tables) are made publicly available and updated each wave at the following website: <https://www.visitbritain.org/domestic-sentiment-tracker>

Topline Summary

- Overall, 61% of the UK population attended a leisure event in the past year with a show or live performance the most popular, followed closely by concert/gigs, seasonal events and live sports events.
- Most respondents attended an event within three hours of home; however, over a quarter of leisure exhibition visitors and sports competitors travelled over three hours for an event in the UK (both 27%).
- In terms of the top visited region, Scotland and the North West are joint second after London, followed by the East of England. 24–35-year-olds consistently represent the largest share of visitors across all four regions.
- As for the length of stay, over half of respondents attending shows or live performances (54%), concerts/gigs (52%) or seasonal events (51%) took day trips, whereas the majority of those who travelled for leisure exhibitions, live audience TV shows or music festivals stayed at least one night.
- Dining/drinking out (23%) and staying in overnight in paid-for accommodation (20%) are top activities when travelling for an event. However, a higher share of music festival (31%) and show goers (29%) chose hospitality experiences over visiting an attraction, whereas fan convention attendees observed the opposite pattern.

Base: October 2025, n = 1,756

Event Destinations

Three quarters of events are within 3 hours of home, although 21% of events are further afield within the UK and 1 in 25 events are attended overseas

■ In my local area (within 30 minutes of home)

■ 3-5 hours from home, in the UK

■ In my local region (30 minutes - 1 hour from home)

■ More than 5 hours from home, in the UK

■ 1-3 hours from home, in the UK

■ I travelled overseas for this event

The majority are travelling less than 3 hours from home to attend an event. Those attending exhibitions, competing in or watching sports events have a higher proportion travelling + 3 hours

How far from home was the event?

Scotland, North West and East of England are among top visited UK regions for leisure events after London, with 25-34-year-olds making up a larger share of visitors than other age groups

Top visited UK regions across events

Age profile of visitors in top visited UK regions

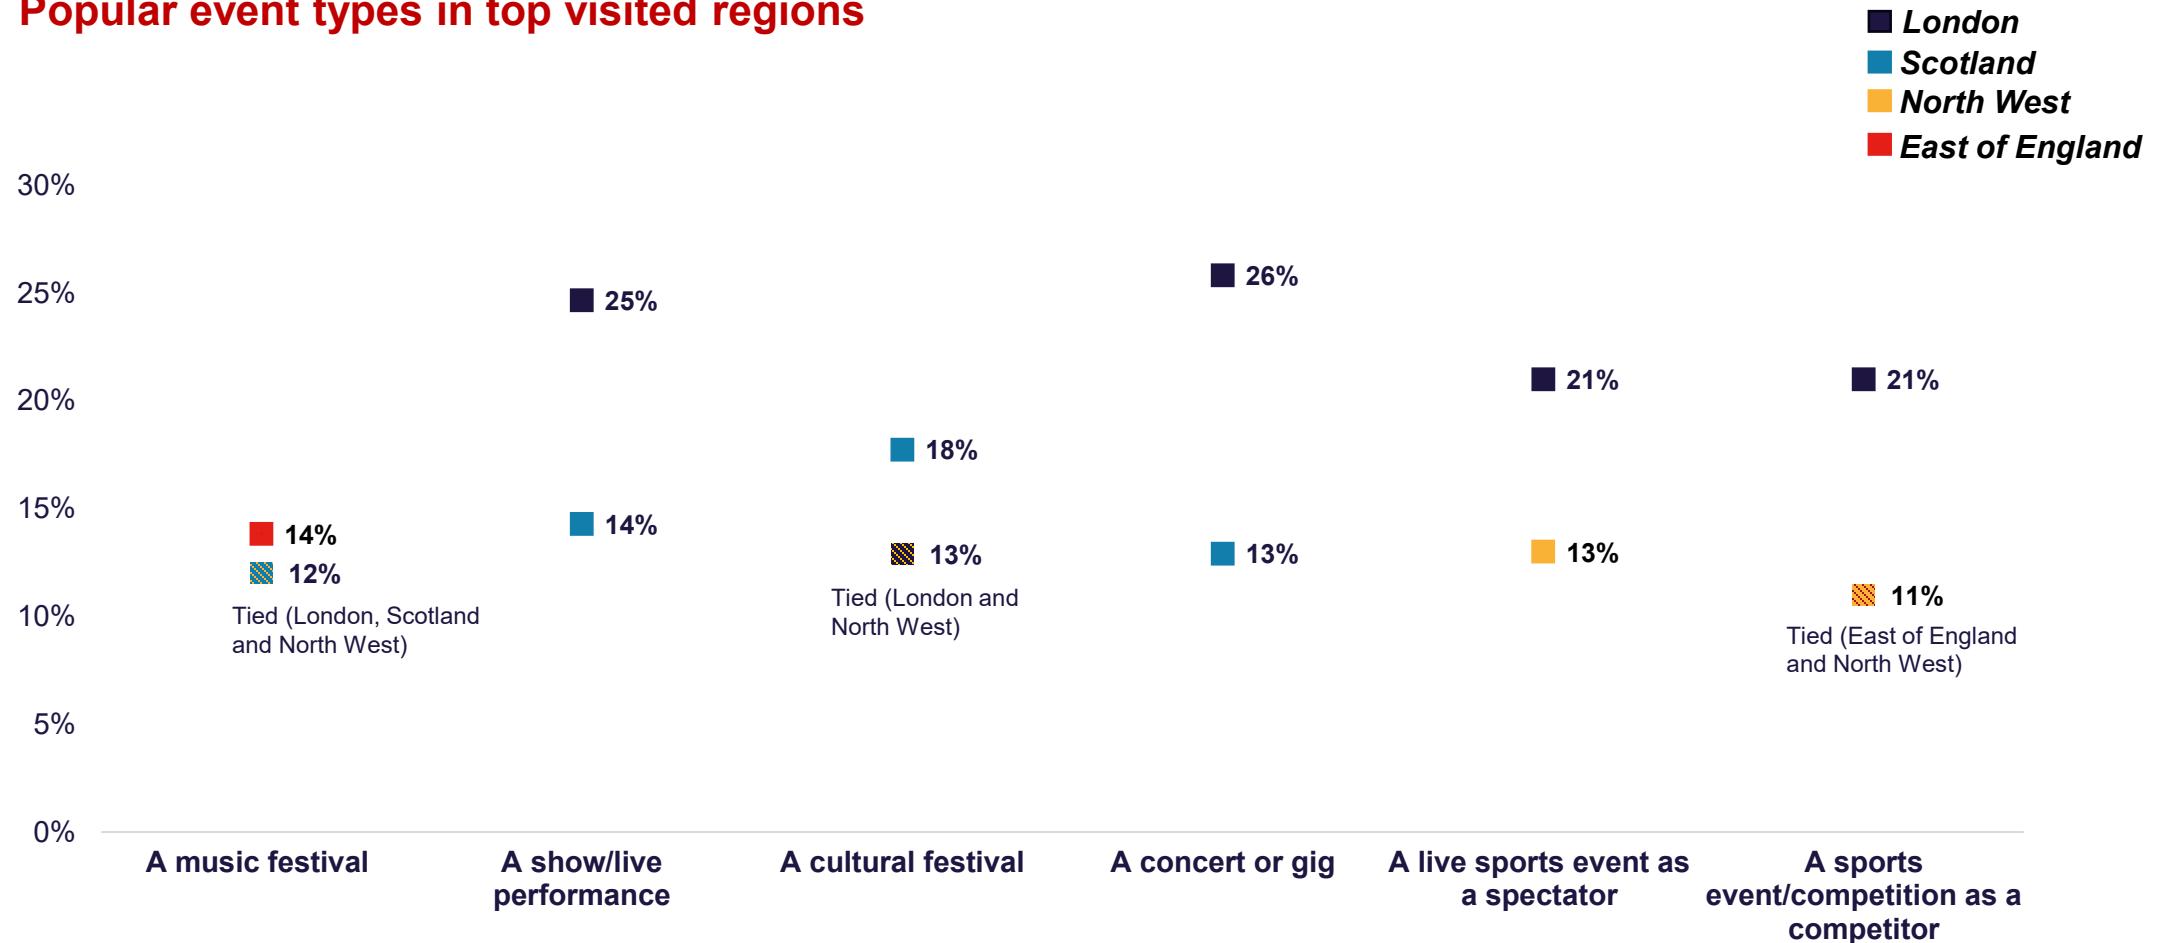

Question: VE3. In which region of the UK was this event?

Base: Those who attended an event in the UK. October 2025, n = from 23 to 308

While London is top for concerts, shows and sports events, Scotland and East of England attracted the highest proportion of cultural and music festival goers respectively (18% and 14%)

Popular event types in top visited regions

Base: Those who attended an event in the UK. October 2025, n = from 23 to 308

Length of Stay and Activities

More than half of show or concert goers were day trippers, whereas over 60% of those who travelled for leisure exhibitions, live audience TV shows or music festivals stayed overnight

Whether attended the event for a day trip or overnight stay

At least 1 in 5 respondents engaged in hospitality activities like dining/drinking out or staying in paid-for accommodation overnight, while 1 in 25 (4%) explored the local area

Top activities while travelling for the event

People aged 55+ attending a show or live performance represent the largest share of those who dined/drank out (30%) or those who stayed overnight in paid-for accommodation (28%)
