Snapshot summary of the most defining characteristics of the market, typically majoring on skews relative to the 10-market average or calling out key findings relating to consideration of activities / clusters and the importance of the latter in driving consideration of England.

Detailed explanation of indexing and the colour coding applied to index scores to highlight more or less pronounced differences relative to the 10-market average or the in-market average.

The demographics block calls out any major skews in the demographic make up people who have booked an England holiday already, indexing scores within sub-groups against the total for the market.

DEMOGRAPHICS SKEWS: % ALREADY BOOKED ENGLAND HOLIDAY INDEXED VS. MARKET TOTAL

18-34	35-54	55+	Male	Female	AB	C 1	C2DE
7%	4%	5%	7%	5%	6%	5%	6%
135	69	85	118	82	105	84	116

MARKET SUMMARY (EXAMPLE)

- Most likely reflecting the older demographic skew, action and outdoor activity clusters are not found majorly appealing, whereas rural life and scenery appeals more
- Aside from the classic drivers (famous places, buildings & historic monuments), the prospect of exploring villages / rural areas and local food / drink specialities have the greatest impact on consideration of England
- As a driver contemporary culture punches about its weight, but in terms of consideration, this isn't a key activity

INDEXING

Indexing shows relative differences, e.g. against the global average or the average importance of activities. An index score of 120 next to a 60% score indicates a global average of 50% as does an index score of 80 next to a 40% score.

COLOUR CODING OF INDEX SCORES

Index scores have been colour coded to highlight smaller or greater differences. =strong under-indexing (index <80), =moderate under-indexing (index 80-89), =moderate over-indexing (index 110-119) and =strong over-indexing (index 120+)

Comparison of important factors when it comes to choosing a destination generally and England specifically. Expressed in terms of extremely important or very important and indexed vs. the "global", 10-market average to highlight instances where a factor or "need" is more or less important in the market relative to the 10market average. The difference – expressed in percentage points – between what's important generally and when it comes to choosing England draws attention to areas where England suffers from a "capabilities gap" vs. areas where England is in a position of relative strength. Consideration of locations indicates preferences for London vs. other England locations. Scores indexed to highlight differences vs. the 10-market average...

LOCATIONS CONSIDERED IN ENGLAND		INDEX VS GLOBAL
London	84%	103
Coastal or beach locations	71%	116

... meaning that an index over 100 indicates a stronger preference for that location relative to the "global", 10-market average (and vice versa).

Modern towns and cities (i.e. outside London) 41%

MARKET SUMMARY

- Activity clusters that aren't widely considered tend to be based outdoors, e.g. challenge / action
- Activities to do with iconic places and historic monuments work hardest to attract, but food clearly has a role to play too
- Whilst not a key driver, local food/drink does affect consideration further indication of the importance of food is the strength of food & drink tours as a consideration driver
- Key drivers mostly centre on the city (e.g. historic monuments), but exploration of villages / rural areas is punching above its weight
- · Local nightlife also a relatively motivating activity
